THE SA ECONOMY

Outlook for next 12 to 18 months

- Inflation remaining stubbornly high because of upward pressure on international and domestic food prices. CPIX-inflation to peak above 10% in Q4 2002. Gradual decline in 2003 highly unlikely to result in average falling within SARB target range of 3-6%. Medium-term trend to lower inflation still in place.
- Rand supported by current account surplus, but remains vulnerable to uncertain outlook for global economy and therefore commodity prices, as well as fluctuating sentiment because of political question marks.
- Interest rates expected to remain on hold until mid-2003, then to start declining as year-on-year CPIX-inflation falls towards 6% upper limit. Risk of further rise has however increased.
- Economic activity remains resilient in spite of slower world growth, supported by buoyant domestic demand and exports gaining market share. GDP expected to grow by 2,5-3% in 2002 and 3-3,5% in 2003.
- Household consumption expenditure continuing to benefit from real wage increases and tax relief. Household balance sheets are sound, and debt levels are low.
- Government sector has started contributing to economic growth for first time since Q1 2000 with delivery improving.
- Growth in fixed capital formation accelerating, especially in private business enterprises, enhancing future growth potential.
- 10-year bond yield staying in 11-12% range, looking through inflation spike and supported by continuing supply squeeze.

Government Finances

- Continuing improvement in tax collection to result in budgeted revenue to be exceeded again in current fiscal year, reducing deficit to approximately 1,5% of GDP vs. 2,1% budgeted.
- Broadening of tax base will make further reduction in tax rates in 2003/2004 budget possible.
- Government dissaving has been eliminated.
- Social and infrastructure delivery improving.

Exchange Controls

- Policy of gradual easing of capital controls remains unchanged. Future steps expected to be cautious.

Impact of HIV/Aids

- HIV\Aids concentrated among low skilled and unemployed workers. Financial sector therefore less affected.
- Will raise labour costs because of productivity losses, medical costs and higher training budgets, but impact on economic growth limited.
- Will raise health care and welfare budgets, but will not threaten fiscal discipline.

Black Economic Empowerment

- Government's policy of economically empowering black population taking shape. Purpose is to alleviate past inequalities for the sake of greater social stability.
- Policy approach is to actively seek private sector's participation in formulating and implementing strategy.
- Companies with comprehensive black economic empowerment strategies will be better placed in changing SA business environment.
- Should essentially be viewed as a development strategy. Bringing more people into mainstream of the economy will grow markets for most industries.

Political Stability

- Upcoming ANC party congress in December 2002 will heighten political rhetoric.
- With 2004 election drawing closer, government is under pressure to step up delivery.
- No threat of government abandoning faith in market system.
- Should governing coalition of ANC, COSATU, and SA Communist Party break up in future it will create opposition party to the left of government, but highly unlikely to result in change in government.

Regional Political and Economic Situation

- South Africa continue to suffer contagion from Zimbabwean crisis. SA's ability to intervene in Zimbabwe limited. Investors should realise that SA is constitutional democracy with strong civil society.
- Vast opportunities in Angola after peace settlement has been reached, also for SA businesses. Likely to become strongest Southern African country after SA.
- South Africa is promoting NEPAD as strategy for Africa's recovery, with emphasis on improved governance.

South Africa vs. Emerging Market Universe

- Relative soundness of SA macroeconomic fundamentals is being demonstrated more and more, recognised by credit rating agencies.
- South African economy inherently less volatile than emerging market peer group.
- SA weathered fall-out from turbulence in Brazil well.
